Petitioner, proceeding pro se, brings this action as a state pre-trial detainee requesting habeas relief under § 2241, his second § 2241 action this year. Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B) and Local Rule 73.02(B)(2), D.S.C., the undersigned is authorized to review such petitions for relief and submit findings and recommendations to the district judge. The Petition is subject to summary dismissal.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of the pro se pleadings. The Petitioner is a pro se litigant, and thus his pleadings are accorded liberal construction. Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007)(per curiam); Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319 (1972). Even under this less stringent standard, the petition is subject to summary dismissal. The requirement of liberal construction does not mean that the court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts which set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Department of Social Services, 901 F.2d 387, 390-91 (4th Cir. 1990). Furthermore, this court is charged with screening Petitioner's lawsuit to determine if "it plainly appears from the petition and any attached exhibits that the petitioner is not entitled to relief in the district court." Rule 4 of Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases in the United States District Courts. The Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases are also applicable to Section 2241 cases. See Rule 1(b) of Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases.

DISCUSSION

Petitioner has filed what is referred to as a local § 2241 Petition. Petitioner is a state pretrial detainee who again is attempting to contest Eighth Amendment conditions claims in a habeas action. (ECF No. 1 at 6). The district judge in June 2024 dismissed Petitioner's previous local § 2241 action, noting Petitioner's conditions of confinement allegations "are inappropriate for federal habeas review." Orr v. Director, No. 4:24-cv-1463-DCC (ECF No. 17 at 2). Like the prior dismissed habeas action, Petitioner complains about lack of soap and clean uniforms at times and no clean sheets/blankets. (ECF No. 1 at 6). Without specificity, Petitioner alleges food and water has been withheld. Petitioner alleges inmates rape and kill each other. (ECF No. 1 at 6). Petitioner alleges there is black mold. Petitioner alleges staff are attacking inmates and killing inmates. (ECF No. 1 at 7). Of note, Petitioner has several § 1983 actions pending with partial authorizations for service, concerning some Eighth Amendment claims. Petitioner's instant request for relief is "17-17-130 discharge of prisoner after hearing" is similar to his prior dismissed action's request for relief. (ECF No. 1 at 7).

Public records¹ out of Richland County show Petitioner has pending state charges for resisting/assault of officer, possession of cocaine, possession of weapon during violent crime, distribution of meth, and first degree assault/battery.

Sept. 8, 2008) (noting that courts may take judicial notice of governmental websites including other courts' records); Williams v. Long, No. 07-3459-PWG, 2008 WL 4848362 at *7 (D. Md. Nov. 7, 2008) (noting that some courts have found postings on government websites as inherently authentic or self-authenticating).

Additionally on April 15, 2024, and in February 2024, Petitioner filed actions in state court seeking similar relief for similar allegations. Orr v. Richland County, No. 2024-CP-400-2319; Orr v. Alvin S. Glenn Detention Center, No. 2024-CP-400-0988; Orr v. Advanced Medical No. 2024-CP-400-0991.

This case is subject to summary dismissal based on the following principles regarding abstention.

Ordinarily, federal habeas corpus relief for a state prisoner is available post-conviction. However, “[p]re-trial petitions for habeas corpus are properly brought under 28 U.S.C. § 2241, which applies to persons in custody regardless of whether final judgment has been rendered and regardless of the present status of the case pending against him.” United States v. Tootle, 65 F.3d 381, 383 (4th Cir. 1995) (internal quotations and citation omitted). “[A]n attempt to dismiss an indictment or otherwise prevent a prosecution” is not attainable through federal habeas corpus. Dickerson v. State of Louisiana, 816 F.2d 220, 226 (5th Cir. 1987) (quoting Brown v. Estelle, 530 F.2d 1280, 1283 (5th Cir. 1976)).

In Younger v. Harris, the United States Supreme Court held that a federal court should not equitably interfere with state criminal proceedings “except in the most narrow and extraordinary of circumstances.” Gilliam v. Foster, 75 F.3d 881, 903 (4th Cir. 1996). The Younger court noted that courts of equity should not act unless the moving party has no adequate remedy at law and will suffer irreparable injury if denied equitable relief. Younger v. Harris, 401 U.S. 37, 43-44 (1971).

The following test is applicable to determine when abstention is appropriate: “(1) there are ongoing state judicial proceedings; (2) the proceedings implicate important state interests; and (3) there is an adequate opportunity to raise federal claims in the state proceedings.” Martin Marietta

Corp. v. Maryland Comm’n on Human Relations, 38 F.3d 1392, 1396 (4th Cir. 1994) (citing Middlesex County Ethics Comm’n v. Garden State Bar Ass’n, 457 U.S. 423, 432 (1982)).

The information contained in the Petition filed in this case, supplemented by public records, indicate that an ongoing state criminal proceeding exists. The second criteria has been addressed by the United States Supreme Court’s statement that “the States’ interest in administering their criminal justice systems free from federal interference is one of the most powerful of the considerations that should influence a court considering equitable types of relief.” Kelly v. Robinson, 479 U.S. 36, 49 (1986). The Court also addressed the third criteria in noting “that ordinarily a pending state prosecution provides the accused a fair and sufficient opportunity for vindication of federal constitutional rights.” Gilliam, 75 F.3d at 903 (quoting Kugler v. Helfant, 421 U.S. 117, 124 (1975)).

Specifically, federal habeas relief is available under § 2241 only if “special circumstances” justify the provision of federal review. Dickerson, 816 F.2d at 224-26; see also Braden v. 30th Judicial Circuit Court, 410 U.S. 484, 489-90 (1973). Many of Petitioner’s allegations involve general allegations of conditions, and Petitioner is already pursuing § 1983 actions in this court and pursuing conditions claims in state court actions. As the district judge found before concerning Petitioner, “[t]o the extent Petitioner raises claims that constitute conditions of confinement or deliberate indifference to serious medical needs claims, those allegations are inappropriate for federal habeas review. See, e.g., Duren v. McFadden, No. 1:16-cv-3756-MBS-SVH, 2017 WL 1900277, n.3 (D.S.C. Feb. 28, 2017), report adopted, 2017WL 1881343 (D.S.C. May 9, 2017).” Orr, No. 4:24-cv-1463-DCC (ECF No. 17). While “special circumstances” lacks any precise, technical meaning, courts have looked to whether procedures exist which would protect a petitioner’s constitutional rights without pre-trial intervention. Moore v. DeYoung, 515 F.2d 437, 449 (3d Cir. 1975). Where a threat to the petitioner's rights may be remedied by an assertion of an appropriate defense in state court, no special circumstance is shown. Id.; see also Drayton v. Hayes, 589 F.2d 117, 121 (2d Cir. 1979). Where the right may be adequately preserved by orderly post-trial relief, such as by appeal or collateral review processes, special circumstances are likewise nonexistent. Moore, 515 F.2d at 449.

Petitioner fails to demonstrate "special circumstances" or to show that he has no adequate remedy at law and will suffer irreparable injury if denied his requested relief of release from detainment. See Younger, 401 U.S. at 43-44. Petitioner is precluded from federal habeas relief at this time and his Petition should be dismissed.

RECOMMENDATION

Accordingly, it is recommended that the Petition be dismissed without prejudice and without requiring the respondent to file a return.
